

I was unhappy with my preparation for the week 8 team meeting.

I spent Thursday reviewing the website that the drumkit originated from.

As he transitioned from each I create a new html file so I could see the transition of the creation of the code. That is why there are so many html files. I did not my best to note the important lines in the code.